

Sports & Entertainment Spotlight

From Contracts to Creativity: The Ever-Evolving Playbook of Sports and Entertainment on 12.16.24

Welcome back to the Spotlight! Just one more installment on the way next week before this dog and pony show packs it in for the rest of the year (pause for groaning, protests and/or sighs of relief). Unlike Juan Soto, I promise to be back next year—it won't even take $765 million to make it happen. Though, for the record, I certainly would not turn down $765 million. While I'm on the subject, I'm not going to talk about the dynamics between the New York Yankees or Mets, I'll save that for another time. Instead, if Soto is to receive $765 million (or more) over the next 15 years—the most lucrative professional sports contract—how much higher can players' salaries go before we're talking about equity compensation (in the form of options to purchase a piece of a team after retirement—so as to avoid apparent conflicts of interest) rather than cash? Such a shift might level the playing field so to (Soto?) speak for owners that are not worth $21 billion dollars (like the Mets' Steve Cohen). We've seen it most recently with Lionel Messi's Major League Soccer deal with Inter Miami CF, so maybe it is just a matter of time before we see it in one of the Big Four professional sports leagues.

- Authentic Brands Group strikes a stadium naming rights deal to rebrand the home of MLS' New York Redbulls, Sports Illustrated Stadium. Perhaps that means we can expect the team to play in swimsuits one match per year.
- The Writers' Guild of America wrote (obviously) a scathing letter to Hollywood studios criticizing their allowing their intellectual property from being used for training generative AI models. In fairness to the studios, they didn't have anything to say because the WGA didn't write anything for them.
- University of Colorado star Wide Receiver/Cornerback and Heisman Trophy frontrunner, Travis Hunter signs an endorsement deal with Adidas ahead of the draft. As part of their pitch, Adidas gave him two hats.

For inquiries and/or unabashed compliments, please feel free to contact me at josh.bloomgarden@foster.com or add me on LinkedIn.

Endorsement Deals, Sponsorships & Investments

Travis Hunter Lands Adidas Endorsement Contract amid 2025 NFL Draft Rumors

December 12, 2024 via Bleacher Report

WWE And Bianca Belair Talk Success Of C4 Energy Partnership

December 12, 2024 via Forbes

NFL's First Private Equity Deals Approved for Bills, Dolphins

December 11, 2024 via Sportico

Red Bull Arena becomes Sports Illustrated Stadium in 13-year naming rights deal with MLS team

December 11, 2024 via Market Beat

Fanstake Partners with The Collective Association to Enhance College Athletes' NIL Opportunities

December 9, 2024 via Business Wire

Messi Fueled 13% MLS Sponsorship Rise in 2024, Report Says

December 5, 2024 via Sportico

Sports

UNC hires Bill Belichick as head coach

December 11, 2024 via WBTV

Saudi Arabia confirmed as host of 2034 World Cup despite human rights concerns

December 11, 2024 via Fox News

BYU reportedly paying AJ Dybantsa huge money in NIL deal

December 10, 2024 via Larry Brown Sports

Music Biz

Demand for South Florida Real Estate Fuels Soaring Prices and Gleaming Towers as Tech, Music and Hollywood Hit the Region

December 13, 2024 via Variety

Oscars: 'Kiss The Sky' from 'The Wild Robot' takes flight and now leads Best Song odds

December 13, 2024 via MSN Real Estate

NFL Commish Roger Goodell says Jay-Z's relationship with league remains intact amid sexual assault allegations

December 12, 2024 via Fox News

Davido, Tems, Wizkid, albums leave Boomplay due to Sony Music boycott

December 11, 2024 via Businessday NG

Super Bowl Halftime Headache? How Jay-Z in the Headlines Could Impact Roc Nation's NFL Deal

December 11, 2024 via Hollywood Reporter

Tracksuit reveals top pop culture moments of 2024

December 9, 2024 via mUmBRELLA News

Film & TV

WGA Slams Studios For Not Protecting Copyrighted Works Used In Generative AI Training Models: "Come Off The Sidelines"

December 12, 2024 via Deadline

Vice Media Launches Sports Arm; 50-Plus Hours Of Programming Includes Series On Top College Basketball Coaches Rick Pitino & John Calipari; Omaha Productions Among Initial Partners

December 12, 2024 via Deadline

David Letterman Gets His Own FAST Channel

December 11, 2024 via The Hollywood Reporter

CBS Sports reaches 10-year media rights extension for Army-Navy game

December 9, 2024 via Awful Announcing