Emily Harris Gant joined the Sip Forward Roundtable, an exclusive two-day gathering hosted by Sipland and Wims! that brought together women founders, entrepreneurs and brand leaders driving the future of hemp-derived beverages. What began as introductions over cocktails quickly became something deeper: a series of candid, generous discussions.

For Emily, being part of this conversation felt both energizing and overdue. Over the course of the event, she and her peers openly spoke about the challenges and opportunities of working in this industry, the value of mentorship and support and how women are leading the charge to break barriers and set stronger, more inclusive leadership standards for the future.
