Hemp-derived CBD and THC beverages are quickly gaining traction, but for producers in the alcohol space, they come with more legal questions than answers. For wineries, breweries and distilleries considering this next wave of innovation, the patchwork of federal and state rules can present real hurdles.

Emily Harris Gant will team up with Alex Koral, Regulatory General Counsel at Sovos ShipCompliant, for a conversation on what alcohol producers need to know about the laws and rules governing hemp-infused beverages. Topics will include:

- How the federal government and various states are treating this new product category
- Product restrictions for CBD and THC beverages
- Licensing, labeling, distribution and other considerations
- Marketing restrictions and consumer safety & education
