Family and law are two of the most important things in my life, so it was only natural that I combined the two to form my profession. As a second-generation family attorney, I have witnessed first-hand how vital a lawyer can be in effectuating positive results for clients during one of the most difficult times in their life. My goal is always to help my clients resolve their unique circumstances and obtain their desired result as effectively and efficiently as possible.

Barry focuses his practice primarily on the representation of clients in complex matrimonial litigation. His work encompasses a broad range of issues, including those related to divorce, spousal and child support, custody, and domestic violence. He has experience with cutting-edge concerns at the forefront of family law, including those related to cohabitation, retirement, and child relocation.

In the area of civil litigation, Barry's experience includes business and shareholder disputes, employment-related issues, and general equity matters.

Barry handles all aspects of the litigation process, from initial consultation to discovery and depositions, through trial and appeals.

Results may vary depending on your particular facts and legal circumstances.
