The intimacy of family law is what makes it so rewarding for me. My clients come to me in a state of emotional distress and vulnerability. It's my responsibility to do everything I can to leave them in a better place when my work on their behalf is done.

Lisa concentrates her practice in family law. Since joining the firm in 2004, she has dedicated her practice to complex matrimonial matters such as divorce, alimony, child custody and parenting time, child support, equitable distribution and post-judgment divorce matters. She has been involved in numerous appellate matters and notable published family law decisions.

Prior to becoming an attorney, Lisa was a real estate investment industry professional for approximately 10 years.
