Steven Nudelman, a partner in the firm's Litigation Department, is on the faculty for a live webcast on "Strategies and Practical Tips in Addressing and Managing Construction Risks." The program, to be presented on Wednesday, April 4, 2018 from 3:00pm – 4:30pm (ET), is sponsored by The Knowledge Group.

Construction is inherently risky. Each project comes with a unique set of challenges that if not handled properly can disrupt and derail the project. Personal injury, property damage, economic losses, latent defects and warranty claims are among the risks which owners, developers and contractors must address and manage. The task of an effective construction risk management is the prevention or reduction of losses caused by exposure to these risks. To be able to do this, it is important to identify potential hazard and its extent, and develop measures to control and manage the risk.

This program will explore the common risks present in a construction project, providing guidance in developing an effective risk management plan and process to control potential and residual risks.

Key topics will include:

- Types of Construction-Related Risks
- Risk Assessment & Management Process
- Managing Residual Risks
- Construction Claims and Litigation
