

The Bioethical Principle of Justice and Inequities/Disparities in Connection with COVID-19 in New Jersey

Live Webinar

May 12, 2021

Event Sponsor: Greenbaum, Rowe, Smith & Davis LLP, NJ Hospital Association, NJ Healthcare Financial Management Association, and Medical Society of NJ

Greenbaum, Rowe, Smith & Davis LLP, in collaboration with the New Jersey Hospital Association, the New Jersey Healthcare Financial Management Association, and the Medical Society of New Jersey, will present a three-part series of Lunch & Learn webinars titled "Bioethical Issues Related to End-of-Life Decision Making."

The third program in the series, "The Bioethical Principle of Justice and Inequities/Disparities in Connection with COVID-19 in New Jersey," will be presented on Wednesday, May 12, 2021 from 12:00pm – 1:00pm.

The program faculty will be:

Co-Moderators:

John Zen Jackson

Of Counsel, Healthcare and Litigation Departments

James A. Robertson

Partner & Chair, Healthcare Department

Panelists:

The Hon. Paul W. Armstrong, J.S.C. (Ret.), M.A., J.D., LL.M

Senior Policy Fellow (Judge in Residence), Bloustein Institute for Planning and Public Policy of Rutgers University

Advisory Committee, New Jersey Department of Health COVID-19

Professional Advisory Committee

Robert L. Johnson, MD, FAAP

Dean, Rutgers New Jersey Medical School

Interim Dean, Robert Wood Johnson Medical School

Attorneys

John Zen Jackson

James A. Robertson

Seminars & Events (Cont.)

Objective: This webinar will be a moderated discussion of the bioethical principle of justice along with related concerns for transparency and accountability within the context of the COVID-19 pandemic, which has brought the availability of and limitations on resources into sharp focus with concerns regarding allocation and equity.

Target Audience: Physicians, Attorneys, Paralegals, Nurses, Risk Managers, Compliance Officers

Program Recording: The Bioethical Principle of Justice and Inequities/Disparities in Connection with COVID-19 in New Jersey

Continuing Professional Education Credits

CME, Nursing, LNHA/CALA, and CLE Ethic credits will be provided by NJHA/HRET

CPE credits will be provided by NJHFMA Chapter

See Registration Pages for Credit Details