

Emerging Issues in Environmental Insurance

Offices of Latham & Watkins LLP, New York

October 28, 2016

Event Sponsor: New York State Bar Association

Ann M. Waeger, a partner in the firm's Real Estate Department, will be on the faculty of a seminar on "Emerging Issues in Environmental Insurance," to be presented by the New York State Bar Association Environmental Law Section's Environmental Insurance Committee, with co-sponsorship by the Bar's Committee on Continuing Legal Education. The seminar will be held on Friday, October 28 from 9:30am – 1:00pm (ET) at the offices of Latham & Watkins, 885 Third Avenue, New York, NY, and will also be simulcast via live webinar.

Ms. Waeger will be part of a faculty of experienced environmental insurance counsel, brokers, and risk management specialists who will examine critical aspects of environmental insurance coverage and provide valuable information on using environmental insurance as a risk management tool. Sessions will address emerging areas of legal liability in the environmental area, the state of the market and evolving coverage options, the latest case law, coverage issues and claim trends as viewed by the carriers, and practice tips on how to maximize coverage and minimize disputes with carriers.

Specific topics to be discussed include:

- LSRP and voluntary cleanup programs
- Commercial real estate transactions
- Cost cap policies and coverage for known cleanup obligations
- Underwriting considerations
- Mold and legionella
- Lead and asbestos
- Vapor intrusion
- Lender Policies
