

Greenbaum, Rowe, Smith & Davis Attorneys Exhibit and Lecture at Annual New Jersey Cooperator Condo, HOA, Co-Op and Apartment Management Expo

May 8, 2014

The New Jersey Cooperator's Annual Condo, HOA, Co-op and Apartment Management Expo took place on Wednesday, May 7, 2014 at the Meadowlands Exhibition Center. Our firm was joined at the full-day Expo by over 250 exhibitors representing a wide variety of service industries, including the legal, accounting, engineering and property management fields.

The Expo is visited by board and homeowner association members, trustees, homeowners, apartment building owners and property managers, who network with exhibitors and attend educational seminars. In attendance at the firm's display booth this year were Dennis A. Estis (Litigation partner and chair of the firm's Construction Law Practice Group), Christine F. Marks (Counsel in the firm's Litigation Department), and Jessica Goldfinger and Robert J. Flanagan (both Litigation Associates). John H. Hague (Real Estate Development and Transactional Real Estate partner) was a panelist for a seminar on "Collections & Evictions" and Jeffrey A. Sirot (Transactional Real Estate and Litigation partner) was a participant at the show's "Ask the Expert" free advice booth.

The firm's Community Association Practice Group has provided cutting edge advice and effective solutions to a multitude of condominiums, cooperatives and homeowners associations throughout New Jersey for over four decades. We have proudly established a statewide reputation as a pioneer and present day leader in this complex and highly specialized area of the law. The members of our Community Association group work closely, responsively and cost-efficiently with board members, property managers, accountants, engineers and other advisors, serving as a resource for information and as counsel across a broad range of legal issues impacting common interest communities of all sizes. The Group has expansive and multi-disciplinary experience that enables the firm to represent our clients' interests across all facets of community association living.