HOSPITAL LIABILITY

Historically viewed as the quintessential "deep pocket" in medical malpractice litigation, healthcare institutions are common targets of litigation. This is the result of not only the increasing centralization of our healthcare delivery system, but also of the pressure exerted by un- or under-insured individual practitioners.

Our Hospital Liability Group has over two decades of experience in representing hospitals in medical malpractice and related litigation. Our group also provides counsel in regulatory, risk management, and insurance/claims management matters, issues relating to credentialing of healthcare professionals and employment relations in the healthcare field.
