PROFESSIONAL LIABILITY

Malpractice claims against attorneys and accountants are becoming increasingly prevalent in today's society. Hill Ward Henderson is widely recognized as one of the leading firms in defending these types of claims.

Our success in helping clients navigate professional liability disputes stems from our deep understanding of the unique challenges faced by law and accounting firms. We approach each case with a collaborative, team-based strategy, drawing on the expertise of attorneys from various practice areas to provide comprehensive support for our clients.

The firm has represented law and accounting firms across Florida and nationwide in a broad spectrum of professional malpractice matters, including securities and shareholder actions, contract disputes, and other related issues. Our seasoned attorneys are often invited to speak at national conferences and seminars, sharing their insights on attorney malpractice liability.
