Robert Shimberg earns his clients' respect by listening, understanding their immediate needs and honing in to solve issues in an extremely responsive manner.

Robert's primary areas of practice include commercial litigation, corporate compliance, cybersecurity, crisis management, governmental relations and corporate investigations and representing clients under investigation by local and state administrative, regulatory and criminal agencies. Robert was formerly a prosecutor with the Hillsborough County State Attorney's Office.

Robert led the effort to modify the Florida LAW RISC to include the Seller's Right to Cancel language and incorporate the conditional delivery form into the RISC. He has provided compliance-related services and training to hundreds of businesses around the country. He has defended businesses against consumer claims, class action lawsuits, and provided representation in connection with government agency inquiries and investigations and conducts internal investigations. He works extensively with automobile dealerships in Florida and throughout the country on proactive compliance and litigation in areas including sales, F&I, advertising, recalls, warranty audits, TCPA, ADA, accounting and pay plan disputes. He is a frequent speaker on compliance-related topics to industry groups and associations.

Robert assists clients from a variety of sectors in navigating responses to data breaches and cyber and ransomware attacks, including: initial assessment, response options, liaison with law enforcement, asset recovery, customer notice, interaction with third-party resources, and litigation. He understands the time-sensitive nature surrounding data breaches and cyber-attacks and is responsive and available to assist at all hours.

He also helps businesses in bid protests and has handled protests for clients against Florida state agencies, counties, cities, school boards and a state judicial circuit.

Robert's practice also encompasses counseling high net worth individuals and helping them navigate both business and personal legal issues that may arise.

He has hosted a number of compliance programs on topics including: "Recalls," "Conducting Business with Senior Citizen Customers," "Advertising," "Employee Theft," "Addressing Protests and Employee Safety on your Property," and "Cybersecurity Threats & Data Breaches: How to Prepare, Protect and Respond."

Robert served on the transition team for Attorney General Pam Bondi during her first term as Attorney General for the state of Florida.

Outside the office, he enjoys spending time with his wife and family. He and his wife mentor local teens and work with and support a number of initiatives on behalf of teens and young adults.
