R. James "Jim" Robbins, Jr., Managing Shareholder at Hill Ward Henderson, was recently elected to The American College of Real Estate Lawyers (ACREL). Mr. Robbins is one of 40 attorneys from around the country elected to ACREL this year. Admission to ACREL is by invitation only, and it is based upon a detailed evaluation process. This national legal real estate organization elects to its membership lawyers distinguished for their skill, experience and high standards of professional and ethical conduct in the practice of real estate law. The group devotes its efforts to improving the practice of real estate law around the country.

Tom Kaufman, President of ACREL, stated: "We are proud to have Jim Robbins as a new member. Jim's proven records of accomplishments demonstrate that he already has achieved high recognition for his outstanding achievement in the field of real estate law."

ACREL was founded in 1978 as a non-profit organization of lawyers who have gained distinction in the practice of real estate law and has become the nation's most prestigious honorary organization for practice real estate lawyers.

Mr. Robbins is one of Hill Ward Henderson's founding attorneys. His practice primarily involves business and real estate transactions. Mr.
