

Employment Contract Disputes

In addition to representing employers in non-compete/non-solicitation actions, our attorneys defend employers in breach of employment contract actions, including claims brought in state or federal court and before arbitrators. We evaluate the specific terms of employment contracts, including issues relating to enforceability, termination "for cause" provisions, affirmative defenses and possible counterclaims, and vigorously defend lawsuits brought against our clients. We always consider business goals, relationships and other practical concerns when developing a litigation plan and strategy for a given case.

Furthermore, we also represent both public-sector and private-sector employers in litigation concerning the enforcement of a collectively-bargained agreements, including arbitrations, actions before the administrative agencies (including the National Labor Relations Board, the Illinois Labor Relations Board, the Illinois Educational Labor Relations Board), and actions for injunctive relief and damages.
