

nyc says salary inquiries are doa

May 10, 2017

In August 2016, we alerted you that the New York City Council was considering an initiative that would prohibit employers from seeking an applicant's salary history, and from using salary history to determine pay under most circumstances. Recently, the Council approved the legislation, which was signed into law by Mayor de Blasio last week.

View Full Alert

practice areas

employment litigation & counseling

labor & employment

labor litigation & counseling