The COVID-19 pandemic continues to have a significant impact on US immigration and the visa process. In addition to the recently announced negative COVID test requirements for US travelers, some embassies are issuing specific quarantine measures as well.

The U.S. Embassy in Paris has just announced that in order to protect its employees and visa applicants, anyone applying for a visa appointment will have to have been physically present in France for 10 days BEFORE they may enter the U.S. embassy for their scheduled appointment...
