

the demise of the inevitable disclosure doctrine

MSK Client Alert

October 2002

In its September 12 decision in Schlage Lock Co. v. Whyte, a California Court of Appeal rejected the inevitable disclosure doctrine. This decision makes it more difficult for California employers to protect their trade secrets.

attorneys

Steven M. Schneider

practice areas

employment litigation & counseling

labor & employment

labor litigation & counseling