

securities litigation

Our securities litigation attorneys vigorously defend clients in class-action and derivative lawsuits and in litigating tender offers, allegations of insider trading and other major securities-related matters. Our securities litigators have the expertise to recognize critical issues early and we work with our clients to avoid the pitfalls that can turn a defensible lawsuit into a corporate disaster. Our lawyers have successfully represented officers and directors, shareholder groups, securities broker-dealers and underwriters in securities class actions, mismanagement claims and SEC investigations, among other areas.

- Defended a computer peripherals manufacturer, its chairman, and its CEO against securities fraud class actions and shareholder derivative actions.
- Represented the Chairman and CEO of a major independent entertainment company in consolidated securities class action litigation arising out of an IPO.
