legal expertise

Chris Luna is a partner in MSK's Tax practice group. He is an experienced attorney with an extensive background in corporate, international, and partnership taxation, with a particular focus on domestic and international structuring for transactional tax matters.

Chris represents a diverse clientele consisting of public and private corporations, private equity firms, other pass-through entities and individuals. He has provided invaluable tax planning and transactional guidance to clients operating in various industries, with a particular emphasis on the technology, entertainment and financial services sectors. His knowledge extends across the entire business lifecycle, from assisting startups and seed-stage companies to advising well-established blue-chip enterprises. Chris has successfully navigated clients through critical stages such as entity formation, capital financings, mergers and acquisitions, and exit.
