

the mexico tariffs, the usmca and their impacts on the trade community

Webinar

June 13, 2019
11 AM – 12 PM (PDT)

Su Ross will be speaking via live webinar on "The Mexico Tariffs, the USMCA and Their Impacts on the Trade Community," scheduled for Thursday, June 13, 11 AM – 12 PM (PST).

Under the leadership of President Donald J. Trump, the United States has reached an agreement with Mexico and Canada in the renegotiation of the Northern American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The stated goal of the new United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA) is a mutually beneficial win for North American businesses. What does the new USCMA mean for you and your business.

During this webinar, the instructors will cover:

- The dynamics of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).
- Its impact on foreign direct investment and the significant regulatory changes the trade community likely faces, including rules of origin and dispute resolution changes, assuming the agreement is ratified by the U.S. Senate and the legislatures of the other countries.

Instructors:

- Susan Kohn Ross, Partner, MSK
- Michael Smith, Director of International Trade, World Trade Center, LA
