

marks & designs in the commercial industries

June 5, 2019
4:00 - 5:30 PM (ET)

Alesha Dominique will be speaking on the panel, "Marks & Design in the Commercial Industries," at the WIPO-CPIP Summer School on Intellectual Property in Arlington, Virginia. This panel will take place on Wednesday, June 5th at 4:00 PM (ET).

The Center for the Protection of Intellectual Property (CPIP) at Antonin Scalia Law School, George Mason University, has partnered with the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) to host the WIPO-CPIP Summer School on Intellectual Property.

This exclusive, two-week summer course will be held in Arlington, Virginia—just minutes from Washington, D.C., one of the world's key centers of IP law and policymaking. The course provides a unique opportunity for students, professionals, and government officials to work with leading experts and gain a deeper knowledge of IP to advance their careers.

The course consists of lectures, case studies, simulation exercises, group discussions, and panel discussions on selected IP topics, with an orientation towards the interface between IP and other disciplines. A certificate of participation is awarded to participants who successfully complete the course requirements.

Confirmed Panelists:

- Alesha Dominique, Mitchell Silberberg & Knupp
- Dale Cendali, Kirkland & Ellis
- Ellen Szymanski, U.S. Chamber of Commerce Global Innovation Policy Center
- Russ Jacobs, General Counsel, CASA

practice areas

entertainment & ip litigation intellectual property trademarks & brands

marks & designs in the commercial industries

- Moderator: Chris Katopis, Center for the Protection of Intellectual Property

More Information