

reflections on the practical practice of law from the perspective of a (flat- headed) screwdriver

Southwestern Law School

February 2, 2010

7:30 p.m.

Southwestern Trustee John Schulman will conduct the conversation for Southwestern Law School's "Conversation With..." series. He will interview Jared Jussim, Executive Vice President, Intellectual Property Department and Deputy General Counsel of Sony Pictures Entertainment Inc.

The "Conversation With..." series features prominent publishers, television and film producers, and senior counsel for entertainment and media enterprises, as well as public officials involved with the entertainment and media industries. The dialogue format allows the special guest to explore, with students and members of the legal profession, contemporary and sometimes controversial issues confronting the entertainment industry and the media.
