The Ritz-Carlton, Rancho Mirage

October 7, 2025

11:55AM - 12:45PM PST

Event Sponsor: The Monitoring Association

Lessing E. Gold will be speaking on the panel, "Litigation Landmines: Forensic Insights & Legal Safeguards for AI Monitoring," at The Monitoring Association's 75th Anniversary Annual Meeting on Tuesday, October 7th at 11:55AM PST.

About the panel...

Monitoring centers operating with advanced AI systems face unique legal exposures when mission-critical failures occur. In this session, a panel of leading legal and industry experts will unveil rare, behind-the-scenes insights from actual forensic investigations in which monitoring centers were sued following catastrophic events. Through detailed case studies presented by seasoned forensic analysts and litigators, you'll learn how gaps in policies, procedures, and AI oversight contributed to costly litigation—and how robust risk management frameworks could have altered the outcomes.

The session will:

- Analyze real-world forensic findings to understand root causes of system failures and human-machine interaction breakdowns.
- Explore legal risk management strategies, including contract language, documentation practices, and proactive compliance measures tailored for AI-enabled operations.
- Illustrate best practices for designing and maintaining monitoring protocols that withstand legal scrutiny, from evidence preservation to third-party vendor management.
- Highlight the role of insurance in transferring and mitigating residual risks, featuring perspectives from an industry insurance representative.
