

how to keep your friends close and your frenemies closer

Sheraton Universal Hotel

December 9, 2015

9:30 am

Bill Cole will be speaking at LACBA's 2015 Labor and Employment Entertainment Symposium on a panel titled "How to Keep Your Friends Close and Your Frenemies Closer." This panel will discuss perspectives and suggested techniques from seasoned labor relations advocates.

The 2015 edition of this conference focuses on some unique aspects of practicing labor and employment law in the entertainment industry, and the special nature of the relationships in the industry between employers, employees, and their respective representatives. Expanded to a full day, five panels featuring preeminent counsel from management, labor and business, and a special guest speaker during the lunch hour, will address diverse topics which present novel and challenging issues facing the industry. This is a great opportunity to be stimulated intellectually and also network within a unique subset of the Los Angeles legal community.

5 hours of CLE credit will be provided.

The program will be followed by a cocktail reception hosted by Mitchell Silberberg & Knupp LLP.

More Information

attorneys

William Cole

practice areas

employment litigation & counseling

labor & employment

labor litigation & counseling