The firm's client Katy Perry prevailed in a years-long copyright infringement case involving her 2013 hit "Dark Horse." Earlier in March, Lepera, as lead counsel for the defense, obtained a decision by the district judge to toss a $2.8 million jury verdict of infringement, which was unanimously affirmed by the Ninth Circuit in a decision that set a precedent on music copyright issues. The firm's clients also have included Drake, Post Malone, Max Martin, Universal Music Group and Ultra International Music Publishing.
