

steve metalitz quoted in warren's washington internet daily

December 22, 2009

Steve Metalitz was quoted in the December 11, 2009 issue of Warren's Washington Internet Daily, "Internet Users Shoulder Legal Responsibilities, Perhaps Unwittingly, When They Post Online," regarding posting user-generated content on the internet. Mr. Metalitz notes that consumers have inadvertently taken on a role with legal responsibilities of which they are unaware and may be unprepared. He states that there are "wildly divergent standards" for defamation and defenses to defamation.

practice areas

cybersecurity and privacy entertainment & ip litigation intellectual property
trademarks & brands