Yakub Hazzard was mentioned in the article, "Ex-NBCUniversal Atty Returns To Mitchell Silberberg," published by Law360 on October 27, 2017 for his return to Mitchell Silberberg & Knupp.

From the article:

"MSK prides itself on its operational experience within the entertainment business, and there are not many attorneys in the country who offer the industry insight and legal dexterity that Yakub possesses," MSK Chairman Kevin Gaut said in a statement. "Yakub's high-level experience inside a major studio will be a tremendous asset to our clients."

Hazzard got his start at MSK in the early 1990s, while the firm was representing the Recording Industry Association of America in the Napster dispute, MSK said. He developed his entertainment litigation practice working with a wide field of clients, including the Ray Charles Foundation, the band Incubus, foreign distributors and leading video game companies, the firm said.
