MSK partner Jeremy Mittman was quoted in the article, "Autocorrect Flubs Aren't the Sole Worry with Job Interviews Via Text Message," published by Law.com on September 16, 2019.

From the article...

"Jeremy Mittman, a partner specializing in labor and employment matters at Mitchell Silberberg & Knupp, said he has yet to receive inquiries from an employer interested in conducting interviews via text messaging - but he thinks it's coming. 'I imagine it's just a matter of time before that happens given certainly how comfortable especially Millennials are in communicating through type of platform,' Mittman said."
