MSK associate Stephen Rossi was featured in Daily Journal for his article, "The Battle for the Future of Arbitration: The Freedom to Contract Camp vs. The Concerned Camp" published on October 15, 2019.

From the article...

"Members of both camps could likely debate whether arbitration is a 'good' or 'bad' thing for employment disputes, but legally speaking the debate comes down to whether the employers and employees can freely bargain with each other."
