Jeffrey Movit was quoted in the article, "Depp-Heard trial: Experts reveal which side benefits from weeklong break," published by the New York Post on May 9, 2022.

From the article...

"Still, lawyer to the stars Jeffrey Movit of Mitchell Silberberg & Knupp said a legal team 'generally wishes to present their full case without interruption rather than have it chopped up and divided and spread out over time.'

'While the jury has time to ruminate on Ms. Heard's testimony, they may forget portions of it,' Movit noted. 'Moreover, her testimony will be significantly separated in time from that of the other witnesses in support of her case.'
