MSK Partner Lucy Holmes Plovnick was quoted in the article, "What To Watch As Drive To Protect Kids Online Heats Up," published by Law360 on January 17, 2024.

From the article...

"While they don't do everything that legislation in Congress would be able to do, the FTC's proposed updates are a step forward in terms of trying to protect children's privacy online, and certainly at the state level there's been a push to put even broader protections in place in the past year,' said Lucy Plovnick, a partner at Mitchell Silberberg & Knupp LLP. 'These developments have implications on businesses because they have to be really careful that their policies are in line with these new requirements.'"
