Overview

Alyssa's desire to pursue law began when she studied criminal justice in college. She enjoys problem-solving complex issues facing clients and finding creative arguments to resolve them.

As a member of the firm's Transportation & Logistics Service Group, Alyssa focuses her practice on representing motor carriers and freight brokers in complex personal injury litigation. She also represents businesses, insurance companies, and individuals against personal injury, wrongful death, and property damage claims. Whether for a court proceeding or client meeting, Alyssa knows the importance of showing up prepared.

Outside of the office, Alyssa enjoys playing sports, being outdoors, spending time with her family and friends, and being with her dog, Arya. Originally from Buffalo, New York, she can also be found cheering on the Buffalo Bills.
