Overview

It was a mock trial in junior high that solidified Caroline's desire to be a lawyer. She thrived on the experience of advocating for others and giving people a voice. Today, Caroline is an experienced litigator assisting clients in both civil and business litigation matters. She defends clients in contract claims, breach of fiduciary duty, and personal injury matters.

Through college, Caroline had a contract with a well-known modeling agency, which helped her build professional relationships with noteworthy brands, present herself with confidence, and deal with the pressures of a rigorous schedule. She draws on this experience today while advising clients, appearing in court, and collaborating with colleagues.

Outside the office, Caroline is active in the Polish community through the Polish Advocates Society. Both of her parents immigrated to the U.S. from Poland and she enjoys keeping their family traditions alive.
