ASSOCIATE

Overview

Cheyenne's desire to become a lawyer was solidified while she was earning her masters degrees. She recognized that law represents the culmination of centuries of behavioral and political theories distilled into a system of rules—and that her analytical nature could be put to use to help those in harm's way.

As an associate in the firm's Banking & Finance Services Group, Cheyenne brings an inquisitive and determined mindset to her role, which helps her foster authentic relationships and represent her clients' best interests.
