ASSOCIATE

Overview

Sarah works diligently to meet the needs of her clients during all stages of the litigation process.

As a member of Amundsen Davis's Litigation Service Group, Sarah represents clients in commercial transportation and general liability litigation involving claims of negligence, personal injury, and statutory and regulatory violations. Her consistent communication and attention to detail inspire confidence in clients in the trucking industry and beyond.

Outside of work you can find Sarah supporting local businesses and attending farmers markets in the Indianapolis area. She enjoys listening to podcasts, going to concerts, and reading.
