

Cannabis and Hemp Law and Practice in Illinois: The Nuts and Bolts

Pincus Professional Education; Chicago, IL
February 21, 2020 | 9:00 AM - 5:30 PM

Now that cannabis is legal for recreational use in Illinois, there are all sorts of questions related to the law, relevant to a variety of practice areas. For those attorneys who want to expand their practice and serve clients in this area, or those who already counsel clients related to medical cannabis and want to find out about the changes and ramifications of the legalization of cannabis for recreational use, this program is for you.

What should you know about advising clients in the cannabis industry? What are the issues your clients, you, and your law firms face? You will learn about the impact and regulations related to Chicago's new legalization of cannabis. You'll find out about how it intersects with medical cannabis regulations and how that affects both individuals and businesses.

Mike McGrory co-presents at this event, covering risk management hurdles and coverage issues confronted by the cannabis industry as well as federal law, enforcement and implications.
