Event

Amundsen Davis, Webcast

August 21, 2019

Every employer, no matter how large or small will eventually face a problem or difficult employee. However, it is important keep in mind that not all businesses and industries are the same and should not rely on the same document and termination policies. Having tailored processes for the industry you specialize in, whether it is banking, health care, construction, transportation, or manufacturing, is essential.

Join Amundsen Davis's labor and employment team as they present five complimentary webinars, each covering a different industry, to answer YOUR questions on documentation and termination. Attendees will learn:

- Disciplinary policies and procedures
- How to document verbal and written warnings
- How to effectuate a termination and reduce exposure
- Most common pitfalls and checklists to avoid risk
