Join Jeff Risch as he dissects and discusses two (2) major developments that will impact virtually all private employers across the United States. First, Jeff examines the pending changes to the Salary Threshold for Overtime Exempt Employees under the FLSA. Second, Jeff covers the FTC's effort to ban nearly all non-compete agreements.

Employers are already getting inundated with questions from current employees on these subjects and management needs to be ready to effectively respond. While these changes are not yet in effect, employers need to anticipate their implementation and be ready to take quick, clear and decisive action.
