

Ideas and Opportunities for Investment in Renewable Energy

Speaking Engagement

Indiana Bankers Association Annual Convention; French Lick, IN September 12, 2022

While many large bank and companies have been investing in solar tax credits for over a decade, there are also ways to get involved with mid-size solar projects. With many states passing renewable energy generation targets and mandates, community banks will likely be involved in much of this financing. Join John Tanselle and Josh Miller and Steve Hibbard from KeyState Renewables to learn more about this possible growth and areas to watch out for.
