

Defended a Financial Holding Company Seeking to Recover Damages Due to Alleged Statutory Violations by its Subsidiary

Amundsen Davis defended a $50 billion, publicly traded financial holding company in suit seeking to recover $800 million in damages due to alleged statutory violations by its subsidiary. After securing favorable order denying the plaintiff's motion to compel discovery, the plaintiff agreed to voluntarily the parent.

PROFESSIONALS

Eric L. Samore
Special Counsel

Ronald Balfour
Partner

Albert M. Bower
Of Counsel

RELATED SERVICES

Business Litigation