

Negotiated Voluntary Dismissal of an Architect for a Large Retail Store

Elizabeth Miles negotiated voluntary dismissal of an architect for a large retail store following discovery without the need for dispositive motion practice. The plaintiff was injured at the store following construction and sued the general contractor. The general contractor sued the architect as a third-party defendant. She successfully negotiated voluntary dismissal of her client by the general contractor prior to summary judgment and mediation.

PROFESSIONALS

Elizabeth K. Miles
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Business Litigation