

Proved Successful on Motion to Dismiss for Major Retailer

Amundsen Davis represented a major retailer, who was the supplier of protective headgear alleged to be defective, in connection with a workplace accident that resulted in an employee of a manufacturing plant sustaining a significant brain injury. Amundsen Davis proved successful on a motion to dismiss filed pursuant to Missouri's Innocent Seller Statute, thereby extricating the supplier from a multi-defendant action prior to the commencement of substantive discovery.

PROFESSIONALS

Heather A. Bub
Partner

RELATED SERVICES

Product Liability