

Represented a Concrete Subcontractor After a Partial Façade Collapsed at a Parking Garage

Matt McClean represented a precast concrete subcontractor regarding a partial façade collapse at the O'Donnell Park garage in Milwaukee, which caused a death, several injuries, and extensive property damage. The company was accused of defective construction, breach of contract, and fraud 20 years after the project was complete. The case was tried for 6 weeks to a jury. The plaintiffs sought tens of millions of dollars. Matt kept the result within the policy limits and the client stayed in business.
