

Retained by a Real Estate Company Following an Injury that Occurred During a Showing of a Home

Daniel Whiston was retained by a real estate company following an injury that occurred during a showing of a home. He secured witness statements and evidence that conclusively showed that the client owed no duty to the plaintiff. He secured a nominal settlement at an early stage and avoided lengthy litigation expenses.

RELATED SERVICES

General Liability

Real Estate, Zoning & Public Finance