

Successfully Represented Nonprofit Health Care Provider Before City Council to Obtain Zoning Approvals

Amundsen Davis represents a nonprofit health care provider that needed to obtain rezoning and a special exception allowing the client to establish a residential treatment facility for recovery from addictions. We successfully represented the client before the city council and board of zoning appeals (BZA) to obtain the required zoning approvals. We then defeated the remonstrators' petition for judicial review seeking to overturn the BZA decision.
