

Amundsen Davis Welcomes Attorney Jarrod Malone to Indiana Office

Firm News
May 20, 2024

We are excited to announce that Jarrod Malone has joined the Health Care Service Group in our Indianapolis office. Jarrod provides aggressive and vigorous defense for those in the health care industry, including national and Indiana based health care providers and entities. He has extensive experience representing clients in medical malpractice, licensing and peer review proceedings, disciplinary matters, business litigation, premises liability, compliance and regulatory, and employment related matters.

Jarrod's clients include hospitals, physicians and physician specialty groups, physician networks, corporations, nationwide insurers and third-party administrators, national staffing agencies, large multi-disciplinary physician and advanced practice providers, and dentists. Additionally, he provides risk management advice to proactively avoid claims and acts as outside general counsel to health care entities.

Additionally, he litigates employment-related matters in administrative proceedings, including EEOC charges, unemployment insurance appeals, and matters in federal and state courts alleging violation of FMLA, FLSA, ADA, ADEA, and Title VII, as well as non-compete and breach of contract actions. Jarrod counsels clients on a wide range of employment law issues including disciplinary actions, handbook and policy/review creation, and employment contract review and drafting.
