Recently, a U.S. District Court Judge ruled on a motion for judgment on the pleadings in the ongoing SEC v. Coinbase trial. The Judge's ruling described the overall crypto markets as lacking a significant role in the U.S. economy when compared to clean energy markets and student loan forgiveness programs.

Forbes quoted Joe Carlasare on his opinion of the ruling where he stated that the outcome was one largely benefitting the SEC. Joe further goes on to point out the troubling parts of the ruling with regards to U.S. crypto exchanges.
