Milwaukee Business Journal

December 13, 2024

The Milwaukee Business Journal interviewed Joe Tierney along with three other professionals to give their perspective on what changes will come with regards to tax, immigration and international trade now that the election is over.

Joe provided his input on how he thinks the new administration will affect taxes specifically real estate and corporate taxes and what the proposed tariffs will mean for businesses. Joe urges businesses to "take this time of year to get their corporate house in order. Make sure you are doing annual minutes. Make sure you know where your corporate documents are. Make sure you have looked at your employee benefit plans. Take this brief pause before the year changes and make sure your foundations are good."
