Wisconsin Lawyer published an article, "Wisconsin Legal Trends 2023" and Ngosong Fonkem was one of twenty-five Wisconsin lawyers and others in the legal profession that weighed in on trends in 17 different practice areas. Ngosong provided his input specifically on international trade.

Ngosong stated, "Although 2022 has been a tumultuous year for global trade, there continued to be significant developments on the trade front. And despite the disruptive effects of the Russian-Ukrainian conflict and increasing enforcement actions by the United States government, many international trade practitioners continually found ways to adapt to unexpected changes to their business environment. These trends will likely continue in 2023."
