The company Ripple has been accused and charged with conducting $1.3 billion worth of unregistered security offerings. They are accused of liquidating huge funds into XRP rallies.

Brad Mills interviewed Joe Carlasare and Donna Redel, CEO and founder of Strategic 50, to discuss the lawsuit against Ripple and what it means for crypto. In the interview, Joe helps to walk listeners through the lawsuit as well as “touch on the regulatory environment as a whole to give an idea of where regulation is headed”.
